Briefly describe what you hope to gain from having the training and becoming part of a personality disorder skills network:

Details of the training offer (Please read carefully and sign below:)

Initial training day:

The initial training is 4 hours from the training team delivered free of charge to practices (usual cost £1100). The training includes facilitation to help a team identify further areas they would like to work on.

The training is delivered as whole team training (reception, managerial, and clinical staff) all together.

The training is delivered at your practice. You will need a suitable room.

The training is delivered in one four hour session (or 2 x two hour sessions on separate days within 4 weeks of each other) on a Tuesday or Wednesday as mutually agreed between October 2019 and September 2020. The practice will need to protect or partially protect this time so that the majority of staff can attend. Practices in areas which have PTL days could use a PTL session for this.

Follow up:

We will provide background support for the lead GP and practice manager to implement action points from the initial training. This includes further educational resources that can be delivered by the leads.

We will provide ongoing support for practice leads by organising monthly challenging case discussions. These are likely to be by conference call for convenience. We expect practice leads to take part in these as part of their skill development and as part of creating of a self sustaining network.

We expect one lead to attend the end of pilot conference in October 2020

As this is a pilot programme, we will be looking to understand the benefits from the training and we will need to collect some data for monitoring purposes. This may include some standard EMIS searches. Any patient identifiable data will be fully anonymised before being taken outside of the practice.

Outcomes

Improve the service user experience across Oxfordshire, Buckinghamshire and Berkshire. This will be achieved by:

- Equipping teams to recognise presenting features of personality disorder, and how it impacts on relationships with professionals.
- Supporting staff to develop core skills in the management of patients with personality disorder or complex presentations.
- Creating a network of practices, to ensure continued development.

Cancellation

Once accepted onto the programme we will make every effort not to cancel an agreed training date except in very exceptional circumstances. We expect you to commit to the same. We cannot however be liable for any costs associated with a cancelled session nor will we hold you responsible for our costs should you cancel.

I have read the above and understand the expectations of taking part in this programme
